TEXAS EQUINE ENTERING KENTUCKY

Kentucky Department of Agriculture requirements have been revised to require all Texas resident horses entering Kentucky to be accompanied with a negative test for Equine Piroplasmiasis (EP) (cELISA for T.equi) and to have an Entry Permit issued by the KY Department of Agriculture. The Kentucky Department of Agriculture is continuing to allow the EP test to be valid for up to 12 months for entry and are qualifying that horses that have been in Texas less than 30 days are not considered Texas resident equine and can enter or reenter Kentucky without testing. These revised entry requirements are subject to change as the investigation(s) continues to mature.
