

Kelsey Nobles selected for 2018 Britney Joe Unbridled Spirit Scholarship

The Kentucky Quarter Horse Association (KyQHA) is proud to announce that Murray State University junior, Kelsey Nobles, has been selected by the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA) to receive the Britney Joe Unbridled Spirit Scholarship, a $2,500 scholarship awarded over two-years.

Nobles, 20, is the daughter of Laura and Kevin Nobles of Niagara, Ky., in Henderson County. She completed two years at Henderson Community College and recently transferred to Murray State, where she is majoring in Agriculture Business.

Nobles and her 5-year-old American Quarter Horse mare Shes Ready to Rage, also known around the barn as Salle, show mostly at Western Pleasure, horsemanship, halter and showmanship, and have just recently started showing in ranch riding. She says Salle has a unique taste for popsicles and Cheetos. She also thanks her trainer Johnny Terry of Clarkson, Ky for her success in the show ring.

“I’m delighted to be honored with this award, especially knowing it is in memory of such a special person,” said Nobles. “I look forward to graduating and hope one day to combine my passion for agriculture into a career to serve the community and help farmers around us.”
